

Geneva Summer School on HIGHER EDUCATION IN EMERGENCIES and CRISES

September 10 – 21, 2018

@ Kenyatta University campus

& United Nations Office Nairobi

Registration now open! Scholarships available!

Are you:

- A humanitarian practitioner interested in higher education in conflicts and crises?
- A researcher focusing on international relations, international education or education technology?
- A representative of an organization or ministry whose mission includes higher education?

If so, consider participating in this highly collaborative course destined to foster partnerships and take your understanding of and impact on Higher Education in Emergencies to a new level.

The course will explore:

- Post-secondary education in emergency and protracted settings
- The role of universities as humanitarian actors
- Policy and programming recommendations
- Innovative solutions to concrete challenges
- Connected learning pedagogies
- Quality guidelines for the design and delivery of higher education in emergencies programs
- Real-world case studies and simulations
- Capstone project

Tuition fees: 2'700 CHF

Final deadline: June 30, 2018.

For further information about the course, contact details and how to apply, please visit:
<http://www5.unige.ch/genevasummerschools/index.php?CID=200>